

The FCC fines against Clear Channel, and more specifically Bubba the Love Sponge, are an outrage. As part of the community of Tampa Bay, I am not offended by Bubba's expressions of free speech, but I am offended and frightened by the idea of a federal government agency using vague guidelines of undefined, unsupported "community standards" to restrict free speech.